FARM MEASURE CERTAIN TO WIN HOUSE'S FAVOR

Test Vote Brings Victory, 186-99; Final Ballot Due Wednesday

SENATE FIGHT NEXT Brief Debate Permitted By "Gag" Rule

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(UP)—The house was ready today to approve the revised farm bill and send it to the senate where congressional action may be completed by the week-end.

Only an hour and a half of debate stood in the way of a vote in the house on the conference report which reconciled the divergent house and senate measures to bring stability to wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, and rice.

Still hammering at the report were most Republicans, and blocs of Western and Midwestern congressmen who contend that the livestock industry is not protected and that the bill will regiment wheat and corn growers. But a test vote of 186 to 99 yesterday indicated the leadership had little to fear on the final vote.

Income "Parity" Sought Containing principally acreage control and, for bumper years, marketing quotas, the measure is designed to lift farm incomes toward the "parity" of 1909 to 1914 by preventing price-depressing surpluses.

To protect consumers against price-jacking shortages and further pad the farmer's income, there are modified "ever-normal granary" provisions for storage of surpluses with loans to farmers, and a new Federal Crop Insurance corporation to write insurance on the wheat yield and purchase the grain when necessary to assure a stable supply.

The measure is based on the existing soil conservation act and offers benefit payments to induce cooperation in a complicated system for control of production. As a new help to the small farmer, $50,000,000 of the $500,000,000 available annually is earmarked to increase benefits to those who would otherwise receive less than $200.

Less stringent than the original senate bill but more than the house bill passed in December, the present version ran through a bitter attack in the house yesterday unchanged under a "gag" rule which prohibited any effort at modification.

It was possible that strong efforts would be made in the senate to restore the full force of the Boileau-McNary amendment preventing use of soil-conserving crops on which federal benefits are paid to feed dairy and meat animals, and poultry.

Report's Provisions The conference report on the farm bill provides: Corn—acreage allotments based (Continued on Page Eight)

San Francisco Psychiatrist Admits Visiting Gangster, But Refuses Information

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9—(UP)—Federal authorities decided today on the customary prison treatment for Scarface Al Capone, who was reported to have become a blithering maniac while serving the last year of his sentence at gloomy Alcatraz island.

The Sicilian hoodlum from Chicago, who was disjected from the liquor rackets on an income tax charge nearly 10 years ago, and who still personifies the worst era in American gangsterism, has been confined in the prison hospital after a mental collapse.

Dr. Edward Twitchell, a San Francisco psychiatrist, who was called to examine Capone, declined to comment, but the San Francisco News reported that the former gangster was suffering from paresis, a degenerative brain disease characterized by fits of depression and alternating delusions of grandeur.

Warden Keeps Silence

With his customary reticence on affairs of the "Devil's island" in San Francisco bay, Warden James A. Johnston declined to give any information on Capone. But news that came from the island indirectly was that Capone had gone crazy, possibly from the isolation, monotony and discipline of prison life as well as other physical ailments, and that before he was taken from his cell he had become a drooling, idiotic figure who would spend hours at a time arranging his cot, bellowing arias from Puccini and other Italian operas, and kicking, clawing and spitting at anyone who approached him.

THREE FORGED CHECKS TRACED

Police Chief Busy After Series of Violations In Uptown District

Police Chief William McCrady was conducting an extensive investigation Wednesday on three forged checks cashed Saturday in Circleville stores.

The police chief said three $14 checks were cashed at Luckoff's, Stiffler's and the Atlantic & Pacific grocery. All the checks, he said, were made payable to Lawrence Steel, and endorsed with that name. The name of Dr. J. F. Simkins was forged on the checks, the officer reported. The checks were on Circleville banks.

The police chief said he understood that a fourth check was passed but did not have all details.

CHILD, 4, THROWN FROM WINDOW OF APARTMENT TO CHEAT HOUSE FIRE

TOLEDO, Feb. 9—(UP)—Trapped in a smoke-filled apartment today, Mrs. Rose Daniels, 26, threw her four-year old daughter out of a second story window into the arms of neighbors and then jumped herself. Neither the mother nor the baby was injured. Smoke from the fire forced 13 families into the drizzling rain.

EIGHT DIE, SIX ESCAPE PLANE CRASH IN BAY

Marseilles, France, Scene Of Tragedy During Takeoff Attempt

MARSEILLES, France, Feb. 9—(UP)—A seaplane skimming over the water at high speed crashed into a breakwater in the harbor today, killing eight of the 14 persons aboard, including the pilot.

Those not killed were injured. The plane burst into flames immediately after the crash, and quickly sank, but they managed to extricate themselves from the wreckage and kept afloat until rescue boats picked them up.

The rescued included a Mr. and Mrs. Emen, nationality unknown, and an Englishman, a Mr. Walbaum. Two men of the three-man crew—Co-Pilot Parizot and Mechanic Joubert—also were rescued.

The plane, carrying mail and passengers, to Tunis, was trying to take off. It had made a long run but had not yet left the water when it smashed into the breakwater which is under construction. Fog and a strong wind contributed to the accident. Pilot Burello, suddenly seeing the breakwater through the fog, just missed a narrow opening in it. The wind blew the plane sideways.

SOVIET OFFICIAL SEES NEED FOR ANGLO-U. S. PACT

COLLEGE HILL, N. C., Feb. 9—(UP)—Alexander A. Troyanovsky, Soviet ambassador to the United States, declared last night that an alliance of the United States with Great Britain and Soviet Russia was necessary to prevent another World War.

In an address before the non-partisan political union of the University of North Carolina, Troyanovsky deplored that he termed the lack of cooperation among "peace-loving" countries.

"No nation wants to lead the way," he said. "They think they may precipitate a war and so they want to pass the buck."

He said he believed there was greater danger of war now than in 1913-14 prior to the World War, because "Germany was not in alliance with Japan at that time."

The ambassador predicted that the Sino-Japanese conflict would continue indefinitely unless "reason" compelled the two countries to reach a truce, or "peaceful countries" cooperated to force peace.

JUDGES CONDEMN WOMAN'S KILLER TO DIE IN CHAIR

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 9—(UP)—A three-judge Montgomery county court today sentenced Wendell Forrest Bowers, 20-year-old former reformatory inmate, to die in the electric chair for the murder of Mrs. Wilma Valerie Carpenter, 38, attractive Camp Hill widow.

Presiding Judge Harold G. Knight read the decision of the court, which heard the case without a jury.

Bowers pleaded guilty, in a surprise move when his trial opened Monday, to charges of slaying Mrs. Carpenter and attempting to attack the widow's companion, Mary Griffin, 22, in the older woman's home on the night of Dec. 13.

A. F. OF L. ASKS REPEAL OF TWO FEDERAL LEVIES

Expenditure of "Necessary" Funds for Relief Urged As Confab Closes

WAGE SLASHES SCORED

Four-Point Slate Offered In Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor joined business groups today in a demand for amendment of the federal tax laws to give industry a "break."

The federation, controlling one of the most powerful lobbies on Capitol Hill, ordered its legislative representatives to seek repeal or amendment of the two taxes considered most oppressive by business—the capital gains and the undistributed profits taxes.

Basis for the A. F. of L. request—made in a public statement by the executive council—was that business and labor must cooperate in order to alleviate the economic recession.

The council, which concluded a meeting in Miami, Fla., yesterday, offered congress a four point program embracing:

1. Reform or repeal of the two tax levies.
2. Expenditure of "necessary" federal relief to care for needy unemployed.
3. Opposition to any contemplated wage reductions by industry.
4. Provision of private industrial jobs by industry itself rather than government.

Similar to C. I. O.

The federation program differed only in its demand for tax reform from that propounded by the rival Committee for Industrial Organization, which advocated a heavy relief expenditure plus government pump priming. In addition, John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, has opposed wage cuts. This stand was recently endorsed by President Roosevelt.

The federation statement, made public by President William Green, said "the change in the industrial and economic situation which became noticeable last September (Continued on Page Eight)

D. W. WHITEHEAD ESTATE SETTLED BY HEIRS' VOTE

Unusual settlement of an estate, in which the heirs held a meeting, auctioned the property involved to the highest bidder in the family, and all signed the deeds, was reported Wednesday.

The settlement involved the estate of Daniel W. Whitehead, Asheville, who died March 25, 1937. Settlement was necessary following the death Dec. 15, 1937, of a son, Edwin Whitehead, of Asheville. He had a life estate in the property, consisting of a house in Asheville and a farm north of the village.

Three daughters of Daniel Whitehead had preceded him in death. In order to settle the estate the heirs would have had to bring a partition suit or arrange the sale themselves.

A meeting was held in the home of David Ebert, Asheville, last Saturday. One son and nine grandchildren were present. Charles D. Ebert, a grandson, lives in Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Ebert and his wife signed the deed in Des Moines.

Howard Whitehead, the son of Asheville, purchased the home for $1,500 and a niece, Mrs. Marie Trego, and her husband, Harry M., of 273 Mithoff street, Columbus, purchased the farm for $10,000. Charles Gerhardt is attorney for the estate. A settlement of this type, where so many persons are involved, is unusual, Mr. Gerhardt said.

Two Face Cruelty Charges

CHARGES of cruelty to an infant, punishable by two years in jail, have been placed against David Harris, 69-year-old farmer, and his daughter, Martha Harris, 27, at Connellsville, Pa., in connection with the discovery of an "unwanted child" hidden away all five years of its life. The child, Alice, daughter of Miss Harris, is emaciated and a cripple and now is in the Fayette county home where she is shown above. The imprisonment of the child is reported to have been ordered by the grandfather as punishment for the daughter's "sin."

Farm Experts Forecast Another 'Hopper' Plague

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(UP)—This may be "the year of the grasshopper plague," the department of agriculture predicted today. Twenty-four states are in the area where the department is preparing to spend millions of dollars for poison in an effort to save crops and livestock.

Five years of weather favorable to grasshoppers have increased their numbers enormously. Last year they ate crops valued at $66,000,000 and caused other millions of dollars damage to soil and livestock. Each year billions are killed by poison, but others move steadily over a broader area.

For each grasshopper killed a hundred eggs are left in the soil for hatching the next spring. Cold rains at hatching time are the only effective check, department entomologists said.

Lee A. Strong, chief of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, said that this year there is every indication of a more serious plague than last year's "worst in history."

He estimated that more than 178,000 tons tons of poison—costing $20 to $25 a ton—will be needed for effective control.

The most serious outbreaks of these pests which sweep fields clean of vegetation, Strong said, are expected this year in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Oregon, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

SANDUSKY LOSES FIGHT TO BUILD ITS POWER PLANT

SANDUSKY, Feb. 9—(UP)—Common Pleas Judge E. H. Savord today ended a six-year battle here for a municipal light plant when he made permanent an injunction which prevents the city from issuing bonds for the building of a million dollar plant.

Voters supported the munny plant twice, but a provision of the city charter prevented the issuing of bonds. Two elections to change the charter to make the issue possible failed, and the present city commission refused to make further effort to fight the appellate court decision.

City Solicitor C. E. Moyer accepted the court ruling and the case was closed. A W. P. A. grant and loan had been allowed but could not be used.

SENATORS SEEK EXPLANATION OF FOREIGN POLICY

Nye Says Forces Mighty Enough for Defense

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(UP)—Congressional isolationists threatened today to fight the $800,000,000 naval bill until the administration clarifies its foreign policy on collective international action to maintain peace.

Both Democrats and Republicans joined in a demand for further assurances against entanglement in a foreign conflict despite the general approval with which congress received the statement of Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the United States has no alliance or naval understanding with a foreign power.

The fire of the isolationists was directed particularly at President Roosevelt's attitude toward future international crises as judged in relation to his speech last September at Chicago when he indicated that a "quarantine" might be necessary against wrong-doing nations.

"Exploration" Asked Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich. promised "further exploration" of the attitude of the administration on collective security action.

Sen. Homer T. Bone, D., Wash., usually an ardent New Deal supporter, demanded a "restatement" of foreign policy of the United States in the light of recent developments.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., charged that the administration already had adopted a new foreign policy which could be explained only as preparation for aggressive warfare abroad.

"I say emphatically that the big navy bill means a new foreign policy already has been adopted," Nye said. "There is only one possible explanation for it and that is that it is preparation for an aggressive war."

"Our navy is now large enough for defense. A bigger navy can mean only that the administration contemplates sending our soldiers abroad to another war that again we would get into other people's (Continued on Page Eight)

Public To Profit DIVIDENDS Bargains Certified

On the march is the bargain parade, headed for Circleville with more than the proverbial 101 ways and means of pocket-book and income protection. Set for February 17 is a city-wide sale that will make history for Central Ohio.

Proof is in the ads to appear in The Herald before the sale opening. Such items as women's silk crepe or satin slips at 98 cents, silk ties at 35 cents, fur trimmed coats at $5, new spring hats for 77 cents, paint that sells regularly for $3.50 a gallon, but to go for $2.55, horse collars of the $7.50 variety for $4.98, felt base rugs for $3.95.

Convincing? Of course! Study those prices and others to follow in this column. Compare them with prices asked by any store in Columbus or elsewhere. Circleville's merchants are out to convince this entire territory that the smart buyer buys in Circleville. Prices generally are much lower locally than elsewhere. For the approaching sale deep slashes have been made in all items.

The modern merchant knows that the buying public can not be fooled for long. Circleville's modern merchants are not fooling now. They are holding out convincing arguments on their sincerity. They who take advantage of them February 17 will profit by their wisdom.

ENGLAND'S KING, QUEEN MAY SEE DUKE AND BRIDE

LONDON, Feb. 9—(UP)—Britons speculated today on whether King George VI and Queen Elizabeth would see the Duke and Duchess of Windsor when they go to Paris on a state visit in June.

Buckingham palace officials announced that the King and Queen had accepted the invitation of President Albert Lebrun of France to visit from June 28 to July 1.

PRESIDENT MAY REVERSE FIGURES OF RELIEF NEED

More Funds May be Asked To Handle Increasing Load in Nation

MAYORS REQUEST AID $1,226,000,000 Provided in 1939 Appropriation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Relief needs swelling under recession pressure led to belief today that President Roosevelt shortly would increase deficit prospects with a request to congress for additional funds.

Warks Progress Administration officials said Mr. Roosevelt was considering a request for further funds for this fiscal year and that later on he might submit revised relief figures for the next fiscal year. That would upset deficit estimates for that period unless Mr. Roosevelt could impose compensating economies.

Offsetting belief that the administration would ask for more money this year was treasury insistence within the last week that available funds would be stretched over the remaining months.

Estimates Differ Mid-Western mayors, labor organizations and some New Dealers are clamoring for additional relief funds. Their estimates of need from now until June 30 range from $400,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 of new money.

Shortly after a delegation of mid-Western mayors visited him at the White House yesterday to demand $4,000,000,000 additional money to remedy "chaotic" conditions in their communities, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference he would have something to say on W. P. A. funds within a few days.

The alternative to a deficiency appropriation would be to "scrape the barrel" in the treasury for odd millions to carry the 1938 load, although that might not be feasible under restrictions placed on spending by congress.

Mr. Roosevelt's revision of next year's relief budget—if it is revised—will deal with the $1,000,000,000 sum tentatively budgeted. With $35,900,000 for direct relief and $230,000,000 for the Civilian Conservation Corps, the 1939 budget provides $1,226,000,000 for unemployment relief in the next fiscal year.

Morgenthau Confers Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. conferred with W. P. A. officials last week and pronounced funds adequate. He said the treasury would not use "slight-of-hand" methods to obtain funds if relief needs become substantially greater.

"If we need X-millions of dollars," Morgenthau said, "I'll ask for X-millions. If the time should come when there are not sufficient funds to take care of the needy, we will be the first to say so."

"In that case, we will make every effort to get the funds, even to asking congress for a deficiency appropriation."

LIVESTOCK MEN PICK OFFICERS NEXT SATURDAY

Organization meeting of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association directors will be held in the Farm Bureau home Saturday at 8 p. m.

Directors are Kenneth Wertman, Washington township; John G. Boggs, Circleville; Paul Cronley, Walnut township; J. B. Stevenson, Wayne township; J. F. Willis, Perry township; C. E. Dick, Monroe township; and Willis Corcoran, Ross township. Messrs. Wertman and Boggs were recently reelected to the board.

Officers the last year were Mr. Cronley, president; Mr. Wertman, vice president; Mr. Dick, secretary, and Miss Ethel Brobst, treasurer.

Stout Awarded Contract For City Service Truck

James H. Stout was awarded the contract Tuesday to furnish a light truck for the city service department. His bid was $470 for the new truck with an old truck as a trade-in.

Four bids were received by the city from Circleville dealers. Officials said a bid of the Harden-Stevenson Co. was eliminated due to Mr. Harden being recently appointed a member of the sinking fund and tax commission.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following article Dr. A. D. Blackburn, Pickaway county health commissioner, discusses tuberculosis, its causes and cures, and outlines the anti-tuberculosis program to be launched in the county on February 15.

Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. It is also a curable disease if taken in time before too much damage has been done. While it is a fact that not many years ago, tuberculosis was the cause of more deaths in the U. S. than any other one disease, and was known as the "Great White Plague," it is not beyond the realm of possibility to eradicate the disease entirely. This should be our ultimate aim.

Through the discoveries of science and by the efforts of the Medical Profession and other agencies, tuberculosis is coming under control and it no longer holds first place as a cause of death. Our only hope, however, for the complete eradication lies in continued efforts to prevent the spread of the disease from known foci or infection.

Pulmonary Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis may occur in any organ of the body, but in 80 percent of the cases the lungs are affected. The active cause of the disease is a tiny bacterium called the "tubercle bacillus." In the "open" case, the sputum contains these tubercle bacilli which may be spread to other individuals by close contact, such as kissing, and by uncovered coughing and sneezing. If careless spitting on floors and sidewalks is practiced by tuberculosis patients, the dried sputum may be carried by the air into the air passages of other people.

Childhood Tuberculosis

There are two types of the disease: "Childhood" and "Adult" tuberculosis. Children who live in contact with a person who has tuberculosis, especially under crowded living conditions are very likely to become infected. This is a common occurrence in infancy and the death rate is high among babies in the first year of life who have been exposed. Opportunities for exposure continue through childhood by direct contact with parents, relatives, friends or playmates who are suffering from an "open" case of pulmonary tuberculosis. When the bacilli enter a child's lungs, nature at once begins to combat the disease, and many tiny cells rush to the spot and form a protective wall around the invading germs. This prevents the bacilli from spreading to other parts of the lung. This surrounding wall ultimately forms a capsule, and the nest of germs with this capsule is called a "tubercle." A small amount of lung tissue is destroyed by this process but ultimately lime salts are deposited in the place of the destroyed tissue forming "calcified nodes." In most cases of childhood tuberculosis, the process stops at this point without making the child ill and without causing serious damage.

The Tuberculin Test The fact that an individual has had childhood tuberculosis is indicated by a positive reaction to the tuberculin test. The fact that infection and slight damage have occurred can be discovered only by means of the "tuberculin test" and the X-ray. The tuberculin test is made by injecting between the layers of the skin a droplet of tuberculin. This test is harmless and causes no discomfort. If the test is positive a red and slightly swollen spot will appear at the site of injection within 48 hours. A positive tuberculin test does not indicate active tuberculosis; it demonstrates only that the body has at some time been invaded by tubercle bacilli.

X-Ray Examination

The next diagnostic step, after an individual is found to be "positive" to the test is an X-ray examination of the chest. By the X-ray picture it can usually be determined whether the case is merely one of childhood tuberculosis or whether subsequent infections have taken place.

Adult Tuberculosis

Adult tuberculosis presents a different picture from that of the childhood type. Children who are just coming into their teens who have been or are exposed to this disease are very susceptible to infection, causing the adult type of tuberculosis. The germs usually attack the upper part of the lungs, where they tend to multiply in spite of "Nature's" effort to wall them off. As the germs spread, many tubercles are found, destroying and displacing healthy lung tissue in varying extent. The onset is not sudden and the disease usually progresses slowly and it is usually some time before the person presents any symptoms which will warn him of his condition or to cause him to feel ill. When the symptoms do appear, such as lack of endurance, a poor

New Railroad Blasts Japanese Hopes of Isolating Russia in East

JAPANESE hopes of isolating Russia's army in the east in the event of a Russo-Japanese war have been blasted by Russia's reorganization of its military transport in the Far East, according to H. R. Knickerbocker, star International News Service writer, who has made a tour of the entire Far East, including Siberia. With but few military experts aware of it, Russia has double-tracked the entire length of the 6,000-mile Trans-Siberian railway and has completed two-thirds of a second Trans-Sib north of Lake Baikal. Thus the Far Eastern Soviet army is virtually as near to its home bases in the west as the Japanese army in the main theater of a Russo-Japanese war would be to Japan. The new railway is more than 7,000 miles long and should be completed by 1940. The map, above, by Central Press Artist E. George Green, shows the Soviet's rail system and the Trans-Sib railway north of Lake Baikal.

appetite, frequent colds, slight fever, rapid pulse, hoarseness or night sweats, there is usually a tendency on the part of the patient to be unwilling to admit that he does not feel physically fit.

County's Program

Circleville and the surrounding rural communities of Pickaway county are putting on a tuberculosis program, under the direction of the city and county boards of health and the Ohio department of health. The program begins on Tuesday, Feb. 15, and will continue until March 2.

Dr. W. J. Smith, of the state department of health, will visit the various high schools of the county and city and will show a moving sound picture which will tell the "Story of Tuberculosis." The picture will be shown at the following places:

Tuesday, Feb. 15 at 9 a. m. at Darby school; at 10:30 the same day at Muhlenberg school; at 12:45 p. m. at Commercial Point school; and 2:30 p. m. at Ashville school.

On Wednesday, Feb. 16, it will be shown at Jackson township school, at 9 a. m.; at Williamsport at 10:30 a. m.; Atlanta at 1 p. m., and New Holland at 2:30 p. m. On Thursday, Feb. 17, at Walnut school at 9 a. m.; Washington school at 10:30 a. m.; Pickaway school at 1 p. m. and Salt Creek at 2:30 p. m. It will be shown also at the Lutheran church, Circleville, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

On Feb. 24 at 3:15 p. m. it will be shown at the high school auditorium in Circleville.

Tuberculin Test

On Feb. 12, Dr. Smith and his assistants will visit the various schools and give the tuberculin "skin test" to all high school pupils of the county schools and to all teachers of the school systems, the bus drivers, janitors and cafeteria cooks and helpers who give their consent. The pupils must have written consent of their parents.

The test will be given in Circleville school on Feb. 28.

On Feb. 23 and 25 and March 2, the tests will be read. Redness at the point of application of the tuberculin indicates a positive test, while a negative test is indicated by a lack of redness or swelling.

A positive test is evidence that at some time in the patient's life there has been an invasion of tubercle bacilli. In the great majority of cases, this invasion was in childhood and resulted in "self cure" and is not a cause for alarm on the part of the individual. In a very small percent of cases, there will be found tuberculosis in an active form. This can be proven only by the X-ray of the chest. There will be funds available for making chest X-rays on all students who have a positive reaction to the test.

County Library Truck Travels to Ashville

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

The county library truck made its first visit to our school Tuesday and remained about an hour and a half. Many of our pupils took out books and more will do the same next time, as they did not have cards for this time. We believe this is going to be a valuable service for us. Commencement will probably be held May 23. Our upper grade pupils enjoy reading the World Letters which they receive weekly from Europe and Asia. These, and our weekly readers from the American Education Press, keeps us all well up on current affairs. The orchestra members are getting ready for the joint concert to be held next month by the West Jefferson and Ashville pupils.

All High School pupils are being asked to sign for next year's subjects at this time so a schedule can be made out to suit as many as possible. A. J. and Mrs. Kauber and son Rodney were over the week-end guests at the home of Miss Ada Wilson in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Councilmen Listed

Yes, Fraunfelder is mayor and Dick Willis is clerk, but when it comes to naming the members of council, that's something different, and we are willing to wager a new penny that out of the first ten persons you meet, not more than half this number can give the names, "right off the bat", of these members. So thinking some, we're giving a list of the Village Dads, so just in case you see something which needs fixing up, you can earnestly tell 'em about it. The members, as we have it are A. W. Graham, A. B. Courtwright, Clyde Hoover, C. C. Cloud, Arthur Petty and L. B. Dailey. At the regular session current bills were paid of active tuberculosis, but if any are found, they will be given every opportunity for a prompt and permanent cure.

The most gratifying thing about this mammoth effort that is being made to eradicate tuberculosis from Pickaway county is the fact that "tuberculosis can be cured" if it is discovered before it has become too far advanced and if the patient works with the doctor. Time is the important item in the cure. The earlier the treatment is started, the better are the chances of a cure.

It is to be hoped that we shall receive hearty cooperation in our attempt to have 100 per cent of all high school children and 100 per cent of all school employees take the test.

SENATE'S FIGHT WITH OFFICIAL REACHES COURT

Judge Tells Attorneys to Decide on Date for Horn Hearing.

PURCHASES STUDIED

Legality of Committee to Be Determined

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The senate committee inquiring into charges of graft in state government continued its study of state purchases today in the face of an attempt to block its investigation in court.

State Purchasing Agent Glenn A. Horn late Tuesday obtained a habeas corpus writ, preventing the committee from citing him for contempt because he refused to answer questions concerning coal purchases without presence of his lawyer.

The writ was granted by Common Pleas Judge John R. King, who placed Horn under $500 bond and ordered attorneys to arrange a date for hearing allegations that the committee investigation is illegal.

James Metzgerbaum, fiery committee counsel, announced he will ask an immediate hearing.

Warrant Issued

Horn obtained the writ a few minutes after the committee issued a warrant for his arrest to have him brought before the bar of the senate to show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

The court must decide whether the committee was within its rights in questioning Horn. If so, Horn will be turned over to the senate for trial. If not, he need not answer questions of the committee.

The committee had asked Horn why the state, in some instances, had paid twice as much as the city of Cleveland for coal of the same grade, and why competitive bids were not taken by the state on coal purchases.

During questioning of Horn, his attorney, Clarence Addison, objected vigorously and finally was ejected from the hearing room. Horn refused to answer questions in the absence of Addison.

Addison said today he will challenge the graft investigation on all points.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, Republican floor leader, introduced a resolution in the house asking Governor Davey to widen the scope of the special legislative session to permit enactment of a measure creating "a centralized, co-ordinated, effective and economical department of purchasing."

No Control Cited

The resolution stated that the Sherrill government survey, made three years ago, disclosed that there is no adequate control of state purchases, that "competitive quotations are not the rule, as they should be," and that a properly administered purchasing department would save taxpayers almost $1,000,000.

George S. Sicker, Coshocton coal dealer, told the committee yesterday he was unable to sell coal to the state until he arranged with a Columbus coal broker to handle his business. Sicker said he tried to sell directly to the state through the purchasing department but was unsuccessful. Then, he said, he made a deal with George C. Woodward of the Kinwood Coal Co., Columbus, and obtained state orders.

Most of Congressmen Now News Reporters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Pick out a congressman—almost any congressman—these days and you'll find he's turned newspaperman.

Congressmen by the hundred have taken to writing weekly "news letters" to the folk back home. The letters, directed to newspapers and constituents cover practically every phase of life in the nation's capital.

Consider the case of one member of congress who—with the zeal of Nathan Hale—deplored the fact that the day held but 24 hours to be devoted to the interests of his constituents.

"This last week," wrote this representative to the weekly newspapers and his friends in a Western district, "would have been much better had there been 48 hours in every day instead of the regular 24. Everything seems to come at once."

"Trying to attend sessions, listen in on the committee hearings on the big navy bill, finish the last sections of my own farm bill, de-gram this week is the story of Oliver Wendell Holmes, American physician, scientist, poet and humorist. Holmes (1809-1894) was the author of the celebrated "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" and was the father of the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

WALTER HUSTON

"HONEST ABIE"

"Your Hollywood Parade"—NBC-Red, 10 p. m. EST.

Huston, celebrated actor of the stage and screen, will be heard in an original play about Abraham Lincoln, titled "The Signal." It was written expressly for him by the veteran radio-writer, Arch Oboler, and develops a familiar trait in the character of the President whose birthday is celebrated this week.

MIKADO TO BE REPEATED

So great has been the response to the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, as performed over WLW, under the direction of William Stoess and Grace Claude Raine, that the "Mikado" will be repeated. When first presented a few months ago, the Gilbert and Sullivan opera was condensed to a 30-minute radio version.

The second performance will be presented in two parts, the first act on Feb. 11 and the second Feb. 18.

Since the operettas have been on the air, much favorable comment has been received from listeners. Among the many letters was one from a group of teachers attending one of the nation's leading universities for post-graduate work.

STANWYCK WITH AMECHE

Barbara Stanwyck makes her second appearance on the Don Ameche program on Sunday, Feb. 13, and once again does a scene from a Eugene O'Neill play. With Ameche, Miss Stanwyck will be heard in an adaptation of O'Neill's "The Straw". Last time she appeared on the program it was in a portion of "Anna Christie."

Charlie McCarthy also has a "double" act with Miss Stanwyck. He is going to sing a duet with her.

Other features of the full hour broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. are the Stroud Twins, Dorothy Lamour, John Carter, and Robert Armstrong's orchestra. Edgar Bergen also appears by special permission of Charlie McCarthy.

John Carter, tenor, is the latest addition to the ranks of radio's important solo artists. Several critics have predicted a great future for him in concerts and on the air.

"Well, we could go crazy thinking about the complicated international relations and the possibility of war, so let's change the subject."

From the mimeograph of a Southwesterner came this chatty column this week:

"I had the pleasure of meeting Jimmy Cromwell, who has the distinction of being the husband of the richest woman in the world."

"We were told that he had inherited $50,000,000 in his own right. Although, of course, that is a mere bagatelle as compared with his wife's riches."

"The much heralded Cromwell, although undoubtedly well read and intelligent, proved to be a flop. Without his unusual wealth and publicity, the average citizen would not walk a city block to hear him."

Another congressman told his constituents that the senate filibuster against the anti-lynch bill, "like Tennyson's brook, goes on and on."

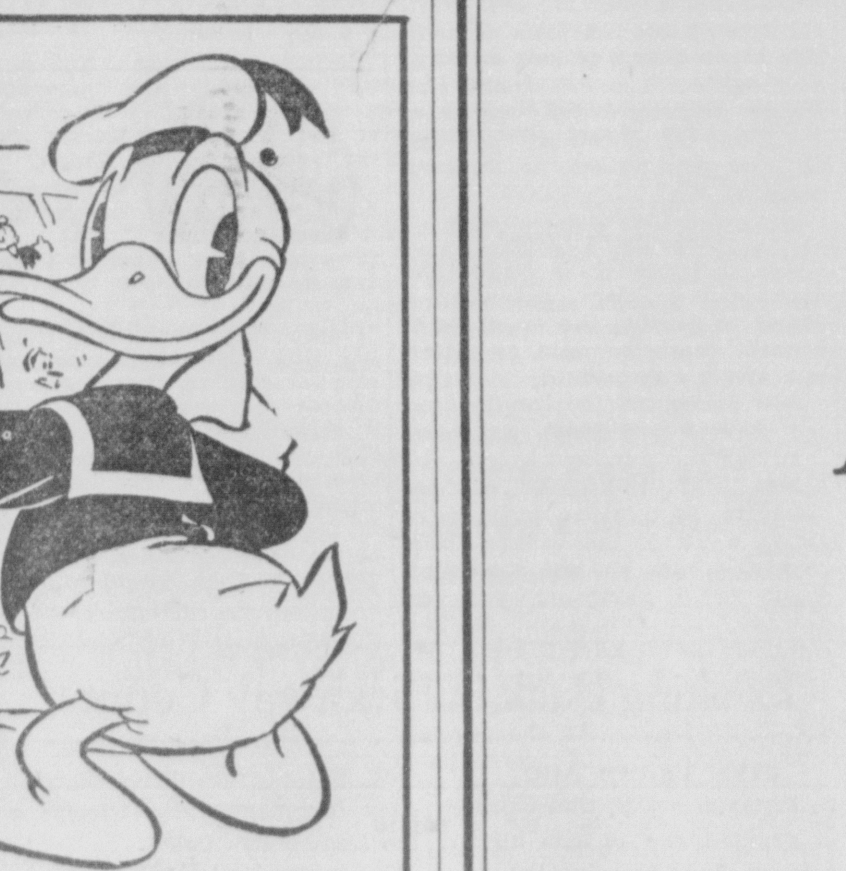

"Personally," he added, "I think the filibuster is a fine thing in this case because the bill is an insult to law-abiding citizens. This country has no more need for such a law than a hog has for saddle-pockets."

AT THE CLIFTONA

Baring the life of women convicts, their frustrated loves and hopes, the cruel caste system that governs them behind bars, Columbia's "Women In Prison" will make its local bow Thursday at the Cliftona Theatre on a double bill with Buck Jones in "Headin' East."

The film's major roles are delineated by such seasoned troupers as Wyn Cahoon, Scott Colton, Arthur Loft, Mayo Methot and Sarah Padden. Lambert Hillyer directed from a screen play by Saul Elkins of Mortimer Braus' original story.

Highly dramatic and provocative, the film's tale tells of a gangster's efforts to free his "moll" on parole so that he can force her to give up the loot from a bank robbery which she hid away. In his attempts to get the parole he crosses the path of the stern warden of the women's penitentiary, who refuses to be party to his fiendish scheme. He strikes back at the warden through her daughter. He frames the girl on a manslaughter charge then attempts to bargain with the girl's mother—evidence to clear her daughter for a recommendation for his "moll's" parole. The warden again refuses.

In prison, the two girls strike up a strong alliance. They plan and execute a daring escape and head into a series of exciting adventures that wind up in a rousing, gun-battle climax.

pearing in Republic's "Dangerous Holiday" at the Grand Theatre, has one of the oddest and most interesting stage names in Hollywood. Pronounced as "Pa" or "Ma," the RA is a combination of the boy's full given name: "Richard Arthur."

Ra being a New Zealander, his name is particularly appropriate, for in the native (Maori) language it means Sun or solar deity. The Egyptian sun god was also known as "Ra," so if young Master Hould doesn't find his place in the stellar firmament, it won't be the fault of his name!

BIG BUILDING

SOONER or later all this construction business will get out of the realm of talk and into action. Vast plans are cooking. The most striking one mentioned lately is that of a big life insurance company which wants to invest $100,000,000 in a housing project for rental purposes. If it does, some of the other insurance people may follow.

Bonds, apparently, are not what they used to be. Big money in the bank doesn't earn its keep. In apartment and office buildings, especially the former, provided the jobs are wisely planned and thriftily built and managed, there should be 5 per cent return in prosperous years and 3 per cent in dull years.

Some of the federal housing projects have fozzled, but on the whole such experiments have probably been useful, suggesting to private enterprise a job that the latter should be taking over, and showing things to copy or avoid.

"It is a good guess," writes a reader, "that if the government for the next dozen years did nothing but run the postoffice, the army and navy, and diplomacy, and just collected and spent existing taxes, the depression and recession would disappear." We'd all like to believe that.

HOW TO WORRY

IF we're going to worry, suggests a psychologist, let's be efficient about it. Let's be selfish and concentrate on our own worries, instead of worrying about other people's when we can't do anything about them.

Worry with discrimination, decision and determination. And do it in the proper times and places. Don't worry in bed for example, because that isn't what beds are for.

"Give up all fear of consequences," he says, "and have complete command over your mental operations." But that doesn't sound so practical, because when people have command over their minds, they don't worry.

Finally, "Don't let fear and imagination work together. That is bad worrying. Use reason and imagination. That is good worrying."

We begin to suspect the learned gentleman of spoofing us. If we use reason and constructive worry—get the imagination working along constructive lines, actively doing something about troubles instead of letting them get us down.

A friend says the Big Apple is a peach. We thought it was a lemon.

World At A Glance

Prices are too high. Few families are able to pay them. They have to skimp like everything. Consequently merchandise accumulates on retailers' hands. Naturally they cut down on buying, which reacts adversely upon wholesalers and basic producers.

We call it over-production, but it is not that. It is under-consumption.

Such is present-day White House reasoning, as clearly explained by President Roosevelt, to account for our current business recession.

We should deflate, in technical economic language.

HEADING TOWARD INFLATION?

Oh no, prices are not high enough.

They are so low that capital refuses to invest itself in industrially productive enterprises; there is no profit in them. Farmers cannot sell their crops for enough to pay for raising them. Thus they (one-third of our population) are in dire straits, which makes hard times for everyone.

Most of our industrial magnates agree on this proposition, speaking for big business. Agriculture Secretary Wallace indorses it in behalf of the farmers.

That is to say, according to their reckoning, we should have INflation, or at least REflation (up

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

DUKE OF WINDSOR NAZI EMPEROR?

WASHINGTON—One report about the Duke of Windsor which persists in diplomatic circles is that the Nazi government contemplates making use of his now idle regal talent by offering him an important job—possibly the emperorship of Germany.

The truth of this cannot possibly be checked, but there are some extremely interesting facts behind it which make the report worth tucking away as a future possibility.

One fact is that the military clique now ruling Germany has been looking around for a figurehead to put at the helm of the Empire.

Hitler, while still an effective rabble-rouser, is now pretty well out of the picture as far as any administrative work is concerned. Even the original founders of the Nazi Party, with the exception of Goering and possibly Goebbels, are now impotent. Clear indication of this came the other day when the army suppressed the newspaper of Julius Streicher. It did not matter that Streicher was one of Hitler's closest friends and the No. 3 man in the Nazi Party. The army wanted his paper suppressed and it was suppressed.

MILITARY STRATEGY

Strategy of the military rulers is to ease Hitler off to his retreat in the Bavarian mountains, make him a sort of retired deity like the Living Buddha, then re-establish the Empire with a new figurehead. To this end the Kaiser's children and grandchildren have been looked over carefully.

All of the above has been reported in diplomatic and military intelligence dispatches to Washington, and can be considered authentic. It is at this point—namely, the selection of Edward as Emperor of Germany—that we enter the realm of speculation.

Behind the speculation, of course, is the fact that Edward of Windsor historically is Edward of Hanover, a direct descendant of the German royal family adopted by the British when they took over George I in 1714. For a long time, it will be recalled, English kings had a hard time disguising their German accent, and nearly all the queens, including Victoria, have been German princesses.

The Duke is a second cousin of the Kaiser, spent part of his boyhood with relatives in Germany, has distinct pro-Nazi sympathies, selected Germany as the first country to visit after his honeymoon. Also the Nazis are in need of international friends, and Edward still has a large bloc of friends in England, might even increase German sympathy in the U. S. A.

All this may never happen, but it is being talked about. So don't be too surprised if Edward, the boy who already has broken the biggest news story in the world, breaks another with the return to the throne of the Nazis of the dynasty which Germany loaned to Great Britain.

A CASE FOR 3 DETECTIVES

BY LEO BRUCE
COPYRIGHT BY LEO BRUCE, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Three famous detectives, Lord Simon, M. Picon, and Monsignor Smith, are investigating the murder of Mrs. Mary Thurston, middle-aged wife of a retired English physician, found slain in bed during a week-end party at the Thurston home near London. Those in the house when Mrs. Thurston retired were her husband, Townsend, the author; Williams, the family lawyer; Strickland, a sportsman, and the servants. Mr. Rider, the vicar, had been a dinner guest. Three piercing screams preceded the discovery of the tragedy. Mrs. Thurston's bedroom door was bolted from the inside and the only open window from which had been tossed the murder weapon, a Chinese knife from the Thurston hallway, was 20 feet from the ground. Sergeant Beef, the local constable, also in on the scene. Preliminary investigation revealed Mrs. Thurston had a stepson by a first marriage who had a bad name and who had not been heard of for years, also that her bank account suggested she may have been a blackmail victim. The detectives questioned the Thurston cook, Stall, the butler, the next witness. Stall admits he was one of some sort of understanding between Mrs. Thurston and the chauffeur. During an intermission the author, the vicar, the family lawyer, Smith, Fellowes, the chauffeur, and next witness is quizzed about Mrs. Thurston's interest in the man. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 23

LORD SIMON was questioning Fellowes, the Thurston chauffeur. "Mrs. Thurston's fancy for you was entirely unreciprocated, of course?"

"How do you mean?"

Sergeant Beef came manfully to the rescue. "E means was you, or was you not, carrying on with the lady?"

Fellowes' answer was an odd one, and seemed to be the result of genuine embarrassment. "Not more than I could help," he said. "Did it worry you?"

"A bit."

"Why?"

"Well, Dr. Thurston was all right. I didn't want anything like that."

At this point I respected Fellowes. I felt that I could see in a moment all that had happened Mary Thurston, indecent, stupid affectionate, having her little romantic affair with this good-looking rather piratical young man. Nothing serious, of course. But she liked him about her. Liked opening the door of the car and arranging the rugs for her. Probably gave him things and expected little attentions such as young lovers show. Altogether rather like one of those stout and wealthy English and American women you see in a winter resort with a youth attached to them.

"There was nothing else that worried you about it?"

"Only . . . when she wanted me to go and talk with her."

"As she did last night?"

"What do you mean?"

"I mean, she complained of hearing rats in the apple room, and told you to set the trap."

"That's right, she did."

"And did you set it?"

"Yes."

"Did you talk to her?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Because . . . when I got to her door, I heard someone in there talking to her."

"Who was it?"

"I don't know. A man."

"Did you hear anything said?"

"No. I didn't stop to listen. I went on upstairs and set the trap."

"What time would that have been?"

"Soon after 11."

"How do you know?"

"Looked at the kitchen clock."

Whether it was the result of mental rehearsal, or honesty, or slick lying, I don't know, but I noticed that Fellowes gave his answers promptly and clearly. He scarcely ever paused.

"And having set the trap?"

"Went to my bedroom."

"Undress?"

"Took my coat off."

"Then?"

"Then, after a bit, I heard the screams."

"Nothing else? Nothing before that?"

"No."

"Keen on gymnastics, aren't you, Fellowes?"

"Yes."

"When did you go in the gymnasium last?"

"Not for about a week."

"You didn't know, then, that the ropes were missing from there?"

"No." The answer was sullen and quiet.

"In fact you know nothing more at all—nothing you want to tell us?"

"No."

"But, my friend . . ." It was M. Amer Picon who broke in now, unable to repress himself any longer. "You have told us nothing—nothing at all to the point. There are many questions which you can, as you say, clear up. For instance, what did your young lady, your fiancée, think of Madame Thurston's so kindly attention to you?"

"What young lady?"

"Allons, my friend, you need not affect an air quite so innocent. The parlor-maid, Enid?"

"She? I don't see why she need be brought into this?"

"Everyone, tout le monde, who lives in this house is brought into it."

"What did she say?"

"She did not much like it."

Again he spoke in a deep sulky voice, without excitement, without any elaboration of the blunt fact.

"So she knew well that something was there?"

"She knew that Mrs. Thurston used to talk to me."

"And she was jealous, perhaps?"

"No. Not jealous. She knew there was nothing in it."

"With her mind she knew with her heart she doubted. The woman is like that, mon ami. You had, perhaps, known this young lady a long time? Before you came to this house?"

"Yes."

That surprised me—I scarcely knew why I suppose because I had assumed that they had met and fallen in love while both were in the "Thurstons' service. But I admired M. Picon for thinking of other possibilities.

"Before you first knew Miles?"

"No. Soon after."

"Bien. A trio, I perceive."

Fellowes did not answer.

M. Picon seemed irritated by that and his next question was asked quite fiercely. "You climb pretty well the rope d'est-ce pas?"

Fellowes looked him full in the face. "Yes."

"And you have thought of operating a little public-house, I think?"

This astounded the chauffeur. "What's it to do with you? Can't I have my own affairs without their being asked into? And suppose I had?"

"Suppose you had, then I should like to know from where had come the money for so interesting an enterprise?"

"Can't anyone save a bit without being suspected?"

"Perhaps. Perhaps. And now would you tell me something else equally interesting. Who entered first the service of Doctor and Mrs. Thurston, you or Enid?"

"She did."

"And obtained for you the job which you now have?"

"She told Mrs. Thurston I was out of a job. Anything else you want to know?"

"Please. One other little thing. Quite little, but very important. You have told us that yesterday afternoon you were nowhere near the house. You were driving the motor car because it must be driven slow for a time after its mechanical reparations. That is so?"

"I was running her in, yes."

"To prove that, would you prefer that?"

haps be so good as to tell me something which would, as you might say, establish the alibi? Show that you had been away from here? Someone, perhaps, you spoke to? Something you noticed?"

Fellowes did not look up for a while. I wondered whether he was indeed searching in his memory for the information demanded, or whether he was doubting the advisability of giving it. M. Picon's tone had been suave, but there was such an interested hush in the room while the chauffeur hesitated that it really made one feel that there might be a sinister significance behind the innocent query.

Presently Fellowes said, "Yes. I can tell you something. I noticed that the flag on the church tower at Morton Scone was at half-mast."

M. Picon jumped.

"You did. That is very interesting."

Then Sergeant Beef broke in again. "That's right," he said. "It would 'uv been. The doctor over at Morton Scone o'd been there 20 years died yesterday morning."

"Indeed? That is more interesting yet. Thank you."

And the extraordinary little man sat down, his cross-examination ended.

It was scarcely necessary to appeal to Mgr. Smith this time. Frankly, I was disappointed in this one of the great three. He seemed to have lost all interest in the proceedings. Of course I realized that the case was not fraught with the phenomena to which he was accustomed. No tall strangers with Homeric beards and black cloaks were here, no uncommon or alliterative surnames, no ghost which turned out not to be a ghost, or supernatural things which became more harrowing when they proved to be natural, no ruins, no artists, no Americans. Still, it did not seem to me to be such an uninteresting crime as all that. I did not see why he should show quite such boredom. For now from the black bundle in the armchair was coming a sound quite regular, distinct, audible, and not very polite.

If the chauffeur had been uncommunicative, his girl who had been described as his fiancée, more amends for him. She seemed to have a great deal to say both on the subject of her life and his before they had entered the Thurstons' service, and on the events of yesterday. Little questioning was needed to elicit from her a great deal of information which the investigators may or may not have remembered.

She was a handsome girl. I was annoyed with myself as I looked at her now, to think how unobservant I had been in the past.

"Perhaps I could blame my unobservance a little but I'm afraid that I had not until now been very much aware of her as a human being. I had seen her often enough of course, on the many occasions on which I had stayed in the house. But beyond a cheerful 'good morning' when I had passed her, I had paid little attention to her."

With her thick brown hair, and rare liquid brown eyes, she might have had an inspired poet, were it not for the almost puckish tilt of the nose, and humorous mobile mouth. She looked intelligent, and full of character, attractive, but also determined. She was a young woman. I was sure, who would not shrink from a desperate act if it was a necessary one. On the other hand, she would be capable of loyalty. I thought. An interesting face, and an interesting creature.

"I was running her in, yes."

"To prove that, would you prefer that?"

First Tumor Removed in Lincoln's Birth Year

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
ON LINCOLN'S birthday it used to be customary for the papers to revive John McCutcheon's cartoon in which he shows an imaginary scene in the backwoods of Kentucky on Feb. 12, 1809.

Two miserable natives of the hill-billy type have met to exchange news. One says nothing important ever happens around there; the only bit of news is that there is a new baby boy over at Tom Lincoln's.

It is a clever cartoon, but in some respects it gives a wrong impression. There were some very important things occurring in that part of the world, some epoch-making events in the progress of medical science, and a great civilization was being built up in that blue grass region of Kentucky.

In that same year of 1809 in Danville, Ky., not far from Lincoln's birthplace, Dr. Ephraim McDowell did the first successful operation for the relief of an ovarian cyst. His life has recently been sketched in that most interesting book, "Doctors on Horseback", by James Thomas Flexner.

The house where Dr. McDowell performed this operation is still standing; indeed, is in process of restoration, so that by the end of this year it is hoped it will look exactly as it did when the notable event took place. The funds (besides P. W. A.) to restore this historic building were raised largely from the medical profession through the work of Dr. Irvin

Abell, of Louisville, president this year of the American Medical Association.

The brave woman who submitted to this operation was Jane Todd Crawford, who rode on horseback across the mountains to Danville with the enormous tumor resting on the pommel of her saddle. She was fully aware of the experimental and dangerous character of the operation, but consented fully to its performance.

No Anesthetic Used. In the little office, on a rude table, with instruments which had to be devised without any previous experience to guide the surgeon, without anesthetic of any kind, before the days of aseptic surgery, these two courageous pioneers—doctor and patient—brought to a successful conclusion an undertaking, the news of which went out from that backwoods community and was heard around the world.

If you ask how the patient endured the pain, and why there was no infection or peritonitis, we can only say that surgeons today ask themselves the same questions.

Not far from Danville, at Bardonia, Dr. Walter Brashear, in 1806, did the first successful hip joint amputation. And at Lexington, the first medical school west of the Alleghenies was founded.

There is one point on which McCutcheon's cartoon needs some explanation. Perhaps it was true that Lincoln's family and friends were ignorant and crude. But the men who founded the great Kentucky medical tradition were not border ruffians; they were highly educated, courtly gentlemen, the best of the profession of that day. They cultivated the amenities and they still cultivate them; if you don't believe it, go to Kentucky and find out for yourself.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clending can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Obituary

Marcus J. Rife, son of William and Susan Rife, began his life journey at Scottsville, Ohio, July 24, 1891, and came to its close January 21, 1938, after two years of illness, aged 46 years 6 months and 13 days.

He was united in marriage to Mattie A. Clark, December 20, 1919, and to this union three children, Hazel, Boyd and Altha were born. This union was cut short by the death of his wife October 8, 1936. Some thirteen years later he was united in marriage to Altha Rife, March 12, 1929, and to this union two children were born, Howard and May Kathryn.

Early in life he chose the business profession of hardware runner, dealer, farmer and stockman. He was a member of the Farm Bureau and by fair and honest dealing became widely known as an expert in these fields. It was converted when a young man and practiced throughout his life the principles of the Christian religion, having become widely known by his church and benevolent activities. He held every office in the local church except that of minister, was one of the originators of the Scottsville Camp meeting having been a trustee since its beginning. He was one of the oldest living members of the East Ringgold United Brethren Church having been a member at that place for 50 years. The hardware of the present building was furnished and donated by him. Great joy was his in helping several African students thru college and sharing his money with needy, seminary and those in need.

He leaves to mourn his devoted wife, son Howard and daughter May Kathryn at home, Rev. B. C. Rife and Mrs. Altha Campbell of Columbus, Ohio, one brother Simon Rife of near Ashville, eleven grand children, three great grandchildren a host of relatives and friends.

Servant of God, well done. Thy glorious warfare passed; The battle fought, the victory won, And thou art crowned at last.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all those who helped in any way to make the hours brighter, during the illness and death of our husband and father Marcus J. Rife. For the kind words spoken, to those who gave flowers, to the ministers Rev. L. S. Metzler, Rev. P. E. Wright, J. H. Hazris, Rev. W. F. Rutherford and Rev. M. R. White, the singers Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Mills, to the pall bearers and flower bearers, who were all members of his Sunday School Class, to the physician Dr. G. K. Gardner and the funeral director Jerry Spears, Oscar Dumm who nursed him through his last illness that all he has done has been deeply appreciated.

Mrs. M. J. Rife, Mr. Howard Rife, Miss May Kathryn Rife, Rev. B. C. Rife and Mrs. Altha Campbell.

To all the many friends of our beloved husband and father, Clifton O. Noggle, we extend our sincere thanks for their help and for their gifts of flowers at the time of our bereavement. We wish also to thank the Rev. and Mrs. Essick, the singers, Mrs. Greco, Mrs. Long and Mrs. Beckle, and Mr. Rinehart, Mrs. Clifton O. Noggle, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nae.

ST. LOUIS CARD SYSTEM FACES LANDIS INQUIRY

Readon, Rickey, Others Called to Explain Its Workings

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 — (UP) — Rumors flew thicker than facts today as Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis called his second conference with high officials of the St. Louis Cardinals to pore over the mechanism of the Cardinals' famed farm system.

President Sam Breadon and General Manager Branch Rickey led the St. Louis delegates back into the closed meeting in the commissioner's skyscraper offices.

Although Landis admitted he called them together to determine whether there has been any violation of baseball law, he added it was merely a general investigation and "probably wouldn't amount to much."

One rumor, however, indicated the investigation may result in a serious setback for the Cedar Rapids, Ia., club of the Three-I league. This report said status of 14 players was in doubt.

Also called back into the conference was President Harry Johnson of the Cedar Rapids organization, Secretary L. E. Henry, treasurer Peter Bailey and Manager Cap Crosby and representatives from clubs at Crookston, Minn., Newport, Ark., and Mitchell, S. D. It was the second time Johnson had been called to Chicago.

"He was in here six or eight weeks ago," Landis said. "There was considerable preliminary investigation to be done."

RUPPERT LEARNS WHAT GOVERNOR SAID TO OTHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—(UP)—Col. Jacob Ruppert now knows what the governor of North Carolina meant when he said to the governor of South Carolina, "if it isn't one of the damn Yankees, it's another."

Joe DiMaggio asked the colonel for 40 grand and then along came Lou Gehrig and hoisted the ante to $41,400. The Yanks' first baseman arrived at his old figures by asking for a 15 percent raise over his 1937 pay of $36,000. Col. Ruppert turned down both requests, leaving DiMaggio and Gehrig heading the major league holdout parade.

"Not a penny more for DiMaggio or Gehrig," spewed the multi-millionaire owner of the Yankees. "Those are positively my last offers . . . $25,000 for DiMaggio and $36,000 for Gehrig. I think I'm being very generous and they can take 'em or leave 'em."

TIGER QUINTET RUNS UP SCORE ON INVADING 5

Clark Martin's Goal Gives Reserves 21-19 Margin In Overtime

'SECONDS' ON TOP, TOO

Junior Martin and Davis High for Varsity

Circleville high school varsity cagers ran up their highest score of the season Tuesday evening against the Bourneville quintet of the Ross county league to win 39-25. The game was played on the C. A. C. court.

All of the Tiger starters added to the score, Junior Martin and Happy Davis tying for top position with 10 each. McDonald, forward, and captain, was high for the losers with seven.

The Red and Black took an 11-5 lead at the quarter, but at the half time found this cut to 17 to 14. The third period's close put the Tigers ahead 30-20.

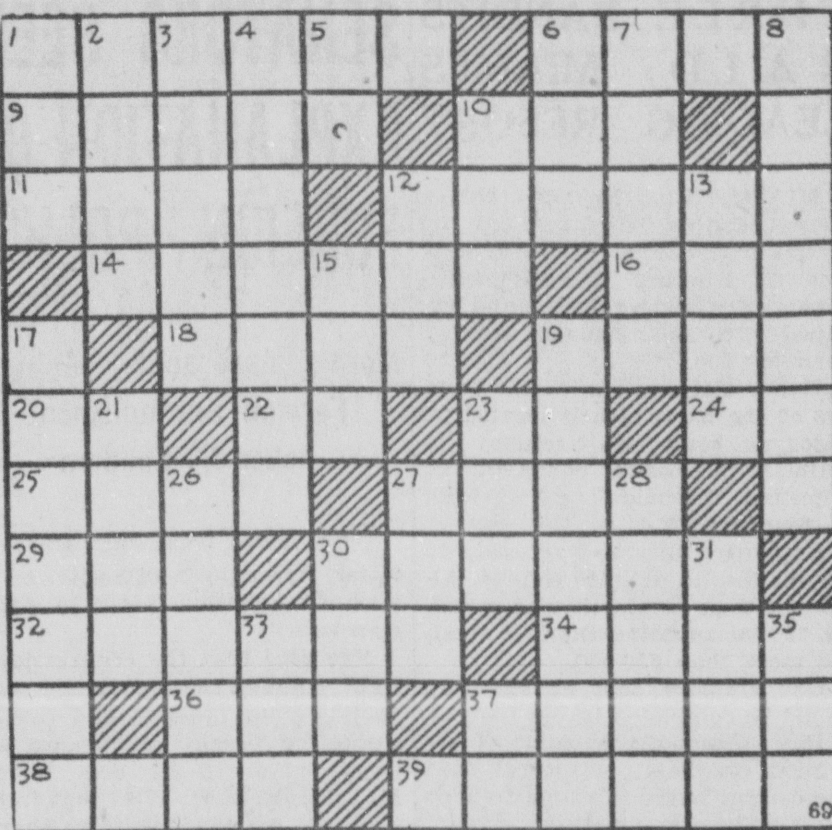

The local reserve team won a thrilling overtime game from the Bourneville reserves 21-19. The game ended 19-11, but Clark Martin cracked in a honey from back of the foul line to win the contest in the overtime.

Harold Smith did most of the scoring in this game with four buckets.

The reserve second team won from the eighth grad

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WISE PESSIMISM

IT IS WISE PESSIMISM to play a hand as if all important cards held by the opponents were located in the worst possible places. That is, if you can find a way to make your contract under those circumstances. If, however, the contract is impossible unless the outstanding honors are just where you want them, you must be an optimist and act as if you know the cards are in those spots.

B. F. HARDEN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTY AUTO DEALERS ASSOCIATION

LICENSING ACT CONSIDERED BY ORGANIZATION

Ralph Leach, D. A. Yates and J. H. Stout Chosen for Other Positions

Representatives of 12 of Pickaway county's 17 auto dealers met in the Masonic Temple, Tuesday evening, to organize the Pickaway County Auto Dealers' Assn.

B. F. Harden, N. Pickaway street, was elected president; Ralph Leach, vice president; D. A. Yates, secretary, and James H. Stout, treasurer, all of Circleville. Regular meetings are to be held the first Monday of each month.

Mr. Stout and H. O. Pile of Circleville, and L. E. Foreman, of Ashville, were appointed on a committee to draft by-laws for the organization.

The meeting was called by Mr. Harden. The purposes of the organization are to bring about better cooperation among dealers and to work out arrangements for the auto dealers and salesmen's licensing act to become effective April 1. Dealers and salesmen are to be licensed and recommendations for these licenses will be made by the organization.

Roy Stewart, of New Holland, and Stanley Beckett and A. H. Rodgers of Circleville, were named delegates to a district meeting of dealers to be held in Chillicothe on Feb. 28.

The meeting was held in the old Chamber of Commerce room in the Masonic Temple.

Auto dealers have had no organization since 1933.

200 EXPECTED AT MASON AND SON EVENT TONIGHT

on past production in the corn counties of 12 middlewestern states limiting production to 10 percent over domestic and export demand; allotments applicable only in counties where production averages 450-bushels per farm or four bushels per acre; marketing quotas to be invoked when the crop exceeds the limit of 10 percent above domestic-export demand or approximately 2,700,000-000 or 2,800,000,000 bushels; a 15-cent per bushel penalty on corn above allotments not placed under seal.

Wheat — acreage allotments limiting production to 30 percent more than domestic and export demands; quotas when crop will exceed that amount by five percent, or about 940,000,000 bushels; 15-cent per bushel penalty for selling beyond quota; quotas not applicable to farms normally producing less than 100 bushels; this year's acreage allotment set at $2,500,000 bushels.

Additional provisions: Wheat crop insurance — new Federal Crop Insurance corporation with $100,000,000 capital, to write insurance against crops lost through drought and other natural destruction up to between 50 and 75 percent of value; the corporation further empowered to purchase and sell wheat to assure a stable supply.

Loans — The Commodity Credit corporation is authorized to make loans on all farm commodities; scales for products treated in the farm bill are 52 to 75 percent of "parity" on wheat and cotton if the price is below 52 percent of the commodity's purchasing power between 1909 and 1914 and the same range on corn if the price is below 75 percent of parity; loans are smaller for non-cooperators.

Soil conservation — three-man county committees will administer the program locally; payments to any one grower limited to $10,000; $50,000,000 of the $500,000,000 annually available for benefits earmarked to increase payments to those who otherwise would receive less than $200; payments denied farmers who do not cooperate in the acreage allotment program.

Referenda — marketing quotas to become effective when voted by two thirds of producers in a mandatory national referendum; loans may not be made for two years on a crop whose producers have thus rejected quotas.

POLICE WARNED OF PURCHASES WITHOUT PERMIT

DUPLICATING TAX ON MOTOR FUEL HURTS OHIOANS

Money available for spending in Ohio to the total of $12,080,000 for wages and trade was taken out of the state and moved to Washington, D. C., in the form of payments of the duplicating federal tax on motor fuel in 1937 alone, it was reported today by J. L. Marsh, executive secretary of the Petroleum Industry Committee of Ohio.

While this tax supposedly is paid by motorists, the effects are far-reaching and seriously affect retail trade, employment, and wages, Mr. Marsh added, explaining that money spent for taxes cannot be used either to buy necessities or to pay wages.

"Our organization estimates that federal gasoline taxes in 1937 cost Ohio motorists 8.8 percent more than in 1936, or $980,000.00 above the $11,100,000.00 taken out of this state in 1936 by the federal government," he said. "As a matter of fact, this duplicating levy has cost the people of Ohio a total of roughly $56,951,000.00 since it was first imposed in 1932."

"Of course Congress did not intend to take $56,951,000.00 away from the taxpayers, the business men, and the workers of Ohio. The tax was viewed as only a 'temporary' levy for the 'emergency.' But it has been continued year after year, and the enormous economic loss to our State has grown."

"Apparently the people have not even yet sufficiently impressed their representatives at Washington with the fact that they want this tax repealed. It looks as if, unless they protest even more strongly, this tax on a universal necessity will be continued, while taxes on luxuries will be repealed."

He will receive an annual salary of $3,000.

the diagnosis indicates that hospitalization at another institution is necessary."

Occasionally, federal prisoners suffering from mental troubles are moved to the prison at Springfield, Mo. William Mahan, kidnaper of the Weyerhaeuser boy, was moved there last year from Alcatraz. But so far as could be learned, no plans for moving Capone had been considered.

Worst Hated in Prison

Capone was sentenced to 11 years imprisonment for evading income taxes on the loot of his mob depredations and with time off for good behavior, he would be freed on Jan. 10, 1939. He has been involved in several brawls at Alcatraz, but in all of them he was set on by other prisoners. Those who have been freed from Alcatraz after serving their terms have described Capone as "The most hated man on the island," and it was said that the constant fear of his life might have contributed to his mental condition.

It was reported that Capone's breakdown began with spells of melancholia several months ago, during which he would sit distractedly on the edge of his cot, wringing his beefy hands and moaning incoherently.

Then he was smitten with happier delusions. Once he appeared for work in his Sunday dress uniform. He was sent back to change it, and put on his dungarees.

Another time he refused to march to breakfast until he was forced, then he took only coffee during the meal. On his way out he collapsed.

Throughout his prison life, the once brutal, blatant gang boss has been tormented by fellow convicts. Harmon Wiley, of the kidnapping gang, once quarreled with him fiercely. One time James Lucas, a prisoner, stabbed Capone with scissors. There were said to have been several attempts by other prisoners to poison Capone. A recent incident occurred in the prison laundry, when Capone was said to have blackened the eye of a tormentor.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—

Ralph Capone, elder brother of Alphonse (Scarface) Capone, said today Warden James A. Johnston of Alcatraz prison had referred him to U. S. prison officials at Washington for information about his brother's illness.

"I telephoned him yesterday," he said, "but he wouldn't tell me anything except that reports on the case would have to come from Washington."

He said two others brothers, Albert and John visited the former gang leader two weeks ago and he appeared in good health at that time.

ASHVILLE YOUTH NAMED TO OHIO SALES TAX JOB

Stanley Bowers, son of Mrs. Clara Bowers, Asheville, has been appointed as assistant to the chief of the sales tax division of Ohio. Announcement of Bowers' selection was made by the sales tax commission.

He will receive an annual salary of $3,000.

has resulted in a decided increase in employment."

"It is the opinion of the executive council that adequate funds should be provided by the federal government in order to supply a necessary amount of relief for the unemployed," the statement said. "The demand for assistance comes from practically every city and community throughout the land."

"The executive council protests against demands which are being made by some employers in some lines of industry for reductions in wages. Such action would only tend to aggravate and in no way help an already distressing situation. It would serve to reduce buying power and decrease the sale of manufactured goods."

"Experience has shown that government spending can only supply temporary relief . . . the real remedy for unemployment is the creation and maintenance of work opportunities for working men and women in private industry."

"As a step toward the restoration of public confidence on the part of those who alleged they are inspired by fear and distrust, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor suggests that congress repeal or modify the undivided profits and capital gains taxes . . ."

BULKLEY'S BILL FOR 10 FEDERAL ROADS OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP)—Senator Robert J. Bulkley, D., O., today introduced in the senate a bill to create the United States highway corporation to construct 10 transcontinental highways at a cost of $8,000,000,000.

The corporation would be completely self-liquidating, Bulkley said. It would collect toll charges for the use of the highways, the proceeds to be used in paying construction and maintenance charges as well as interest and principal of the bonds.

The highway corporation would be authorized to issue bonds up to $8,000,000,000, the bonds maturing within 60 years and bearing an interest rate not to exceed 3 percent.

Sens. F. Ryan Duffy, D., Wis., and David I. Walsh, D., Mass., are supporting the plan.

THREE BANDITS RAID MIAMI'S LEADING RESORT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9.—(UP)—Three bandits today held up the Arena bar, one of Miami's best-known drinking establishments, broke open strong boxes and escaped with cash estimated at more than $50,000.

Henry Palmer, one of the owners of the bar which is located on Biscayne boulevard, refused to estimate the loss for police. But he admitted "I couldn't get it back in four years."

Employees likewise refused to fix the loss in definite figures. Although their comment was guarded, it was reported the loot totaled more than $50,000.

One employee said no check-up would be completed before tonight. It was known that some of the regular customers of the bar used the deposit boxes in which to keep cash and, occasionally, jewelry, but there was no available listing of what was in the boxes.

JAPS READY TO REPLY TO DEMAND OF POWERS

TOKYO, Feb. 9.—(UP)—The government was reported today to be ready to reply to America, British and French notes asking reassurances as to Japan's naval building program.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye, the premier, conferred with Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, navy minister, and newspapers reported that the premier approved, subject to possible changes in phraseology, a draft reply which naval experts had formulated. It was forecast that the cabinet would consider the reply at a meeting Thursday or Saturday and that then the notes would probably be forwarded to Washington, London and Paris.

wars. It would necessarily be a war of aggression if it is in a foreign land."

Nye said that the congressional fight against a big navy was "building up rapidly" and that it would be fought mainly on the thesis advanced by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, P., Wis., that funds proposed for naval building should go for economic needs at home.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., and Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., of the foreign relations committee, took the position that Hull's statement had clarified the rumors of an alliance with Great Britain and had removed the main obstacles from the path of the navy bill.

EAGLES HAVE SUPPER

QUALITY WINS

The Final Registration Figures for 1937 Show
Chevrolet Captured First Place in Passenger Car Registrations by 2,107 Units

In spite of the fact that they were practically out of production for six weeks.

In spite of the fact that they were 90,167 passenger cars behind First Place on August first, with 70% of the market behind them.

In spite of the fact that they could not get all of the cars they wanted—when they needed them most.

In spite of all the other handicaps they were called upon to face, this great Selling Organization—in the short period of five months—overcame a competitive lead of 90,167 units and finished 1937 in FIRST PLACE on Passenger Cars by 2,107 units.

Now let's see what happened on Truck Registrations.

On August first Chevrolet was 15,956 units behind First Place, with 70% of the market behind them, but on December 31 they had cut competition's lead to 5,702, and had picked up 10,254 units.

True, they missed their goal on trucks—but only by a small margin, and in our opinion, this was a job to which we point with pride.

ON COMBINED PASSENGER CARS AND TRUCKS, THE FIGURES ARE EVEN MORE IMPRESSIVE.

On August first we were 106,123 units behind First Place.

On December 31 we were only 3,595 units behind on combined Passenger Car and Truck registrations.

No Sales Organization in the industry ever gave a more convincing demonstration of its aggressiveness and selling strength—no Sales Organization in the industry ever made a record to which they can point with greater pride.

The above is abundant and positive proof that Chevrolet quality is recognized all over the country and discerning buyers give Chevrolet FIRST PLACE.
